UMANA Foundation Provides Free CPR and First Aid Training for Camp Counselors in New Jersey and Illinois

April 25th, 2009 the Foundation of the Ukrainian Medical Association of North America (UMANA Foundation) inaugurated a CPR and First Aid teaching project for Ukrainian American camp counselors in Chicago, Illinois and Whippany, New Jersey. UMANA Foundation underwrote the cost of professional instructors, supplying 4 1/2 hours of instruction to over 70 trainees in both cities, helping these young counselors become confident and proficient in basic first aid and life saving skills.

As a pilot project, the UMANA Foundation invited counselors from PLAST, CYM, and ODUM as well as ISKRA and SITCH to send representatives to the course. The response from the youth groups was resounding, with 41 participating in Chicago and 30 participating in Whippany.

The youth counselors energetically absorbed the intense lessons, and upon course completion received a two year certificate of competency in basic CPR. Despite the length of the program, the registrants studiously participated in all the activities. The Foundation supplied each participant with a personal first aid kit for use in any eventuality.

THE UKRANIAN COMMUNITY PROVIDES SPACE FOR UMANA FOUNDATION'S CPR AND FIRST AID CLASSES FOR CAMP COUNSELORS

The Ukrainian community in Chicago and New Jersey generously supplied free teaching space. The Ukrainian National Museum in Chicago and the Arts, Cultural and Education Committee (ACE) of the Ukrainian American Cultural Center of New Jersey, kindly allowed their halls to be used for over four hours for this dedicated purpose. Dr Marta Lopatynsky, chairperson of ACE Committee and Dr. Ariadna Holynskij, UMANA President, helped organize the New Jersey courses. Proceeds from the annual UMANA Illinois Chapter Debutante Ball benefited the UMANA Foundation. The individual debutantes also raised funds for the First Aid/CPR project. Katya Iwanik and Diana Kuritza, 2009 debutantes, volunteered with registration and refreshments. The Selfreliance Foundation, headquartered in Chicago with a branch in Whippany, donated $500 to support these courses.
